

Assignment 4:

Write a class named “File” from which other classes are derived which represent different types of files (image, audio, video, text,..). Write an interface that contains a set of methods that each file must implement. Write some methods which are specific for each type and override others (when needed according to each type of file). Test all methods using a test class.

Assignment solutions to be uploaded to your github account, then you should send the repo's link to: khaled.3ttia@gmail.com